Dear Parents,

‘In every class there are students who will require the curriculum to be modified to ensure the provision of appropriate challenge for their learning… all students should be given the opportunity to achieve their potential during their time at school.’

(DEECD)

As a result of this, from time to time opportunities arise for students to be involved in activities beyond the classroom that can help them achieve their potential in a particular area of the curriculum in which they show talent or high level skill.

The Science Talent Search and ICAS competitions in English, Writing, Maths and Science are just some of the activities Essendon North has been involved in during previous years. Many students have shown great success in these competitions.

Details will be included in the newsletter of activities as they arise however some activities require parental involvement and are not usually included. If you would like to be notified of any activities which arise including G.A.T.E.W.A.Y.S school and holiday programs for gifted students, or you would like to become involved in assisting with activities at school, please forward your details to: upton.carole.a@edumail.vic.gov.au so that you can be included in regular mailings.

Thanking you for your support,
Regards Carole Upton
